A pen tool is similar to a paint brush, but can be used to draw lines and shapes. You can also use it to make freehand selections of different sizes, shapes, and colors. If you want to do some work with a brush, but don't want to deal with paint, the Pen tool is perfect for you. Selecting Deselect The easiest way to select objects is to click them with the mouse. If you want to find all the objects in the document, press Ctrl+A (PC: ⌘-A). If you want to select just the parts of an object that you want to work on, you can use the Magic Wand tool. Click with the left mouse button over an area where you want to select a part of an object, and make sure that the Magic Wand tool is on or just click on the tool. If the Magic Wand tool is grayed out, click the Color Sampler tool (or Alt+H, or the + sign) and set the tool to Color (it will be set to Color by default). Then click on the object. If the Magic Wand tool is all black, your object is selected. If the Magic Wand tool is a light gray and your object is darker than the background, click on the object again and the Magic Wand tool will begin to lighten. If the Magic Wand tool doesn't show up, click on the image with the mouse until a dotted square appears. If you need to deselect something, click with the mouse again. Q: Find a matrices to rotate a plane around a line Given a line in \mathbb{R}^3 , find a rotation matrix $A \in SO(3)$ such that a plane $x+y+z=0$ is turned with this rotation around the line. I think I could answer this question just by looking at the equation of the line and visualizing which plane you want rotated around the line. But it seems a little ugly. I was thinking about using the method in this related question to solve the problem. EDIT: I cannot assume any prior knowledge. A: As you have already noticed, you can use any normal vector as a rotation axis of the required rotation. The rotation matrix is given by $A = \begin{pmatrix} 1 & 0 & 0 \\ 0 & \cos \phi & \sin \phi \\ 0 & -\sin \phi & \cos \phi \end{pmatrix}$ where ϕ is the angle between the original plane and the rotated plane. The rotation angle ϕ can be expressed in terms of the signed distance of a point
