- NCSOFT hi, i have seen your many videos on how to build your own guitar and have downloaded the step-by-step pictorial guide you used for your JH. i am a newbie and i want to ask you for the recommended guitar for a first time build. being a newbie i am not familiar with brands and brands of guitars. i need a guitar that is good looking and good sounding but more important is to be light, easy to handle, enjoyably play and easy to keep clean. so, what would be your suggestion for me. i have studied guitar for about 3 years and played only on my acoustic for last 1 year. but now i want to learn electric guitar because i want to add melody to my playing (i play the flute for 4 years). so the guitar i am planning to build is electric. i will be buying the amp from a shop near me, which is going to be a Vox Jaguar Amp. can you please tell me if there is any problem in building the guitar. My recommendation is (if you can find it) a Martin D'Ville or a Martin D'Ville SG. A Martin D'Ville with mahogany neck and a maple body would sound great. A Martin D'Ville maple neck with a rosewood body is also a good choice. If you can find a solid body D'Ville, you will like it as well. I have played a PS blackface D'Ville as a lesson guitar. It has no fretboard wear, frets are still in place and the build is very solid. No loose binding or cracks in the fretboard. It also has a nice set of 'scalloped' buttons on the side that are quite nice bff6bb2d33
