So I'm looking at a theme for a responsive website and I think it's got some css that isn't quite responsive. When I try to style a div on the page with a height and width attribute, I find that all they do is stay at 0 even though there's height and width attributes. This looks like it shouldn't happen, but I'm sure I've seen it happen. Why is this happening and how do I fix it? (Siden
